Negotiation Key To Peace Or War--JFK

President's Seattle Talk Opens Tour

Kennedy Declares Nation Never Will Negotiate Freedom

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—President Kennedy declared Thursday the United States, as the world's most powerful defender of freedom, must be willing to negotiate cold war issues to learn if its rights can be maintained in peace.

"This nation, however, 'will never negotiate freedom,'" Kennedy said at a centennial convocation of the University of Washington.

But as long as it knows exactly its vital interests, he said, "we have nothing to fear from negotiation at the appropriate time and nothing to gain by refusing them."

In a frank recounting of the "burdens and frustrations" of global conflict without arms, Kennedy told 11,000 faculty members and students there can be no purely American solution for every world problem.

Some Neutrals "Hostile"

America must face up to the possibility of war, he said, if peace is to be maintained. And if negotiations are to occur, the President said, the United States "cannot abdicate to its adversaries the task of choosing the forum and framework."

In his prepared text Kennedy had pledged this government to determined efforts to keep other nations from slipping into neutrality or communism in the long struggle ahead for peace and freedom.

As he delivered the speech, Kennedy altered that passage to note that some nations that call themselves neutrals are friends, others are "openly hostile."

With his candid statement that the United States cannot force its will on other lands, Kennedy said, "It is a test of our national maturity that negotiations are not a contest spelling victory or defeat."

Rights Not Negotiable

Through negotiations, he said, the free world can find out whether its vital interests can be preserved by peaceful means or whether the Communists will accept no less than a concession of its rights.

"But," Kennedy said, "While we shall negotiate freely we will never negotiate freedom."

This is so, he added, even though war could precipitate total annihilation.

Kennedy appealed for patience and an objective view of the international scene after arriving in Seattle for the start of a Western tour which got under way as House Speaker Sam Rayburn, 79, died.

The saddened President discarded plans to witness Navy and Marine maneuvers at San Diego on Saturday in order to attend the funeral of "Mr. Democrat" in Bonham, Tex., that afternoon.

Antimissile Rocket In Successful Test

POINT MUGU, Calif. (UPI)—A Nike Zeus antimissile rocket—glowing red because of its tremendous speed—flashed Thursday to the first successful long-range test in development of a defense against sneak missile attack.

Coming after two partial failures in an attempt to launch a "high altitude" test from this coastal base 60 miles northwest of Los Angeles, the success was hailed by the Army as a significant step forward for the controversial missile.

Only the two main stages were tested Thursday as the Nike Zeus—third in a family of anti-aircraft weapons—was not shooting at another missile as it will be in trials at Kwajalein Island in the Pacific soon.

Girl, 11, Survivor Of Boat Sinking Found On Raft

Child Near Death When Picked Up By Passing Ship

MIAMI (UPI)—A little blonde girl who survived the sinking of a luxury yacht in a Bahamian squall Sunday was found bobbing alone on a raft in the Atlantic Thursday. She was in a deep sleep and near death.

The child, 11-year-old Terry Jo Duperrault of Green Bay, Wis., was picked up by a passing merchant vessel—the Captain Theo—which chanced upon the small white raft in choppy waters.

Terry Jo was cast into the sea with six other persons, including her parents and a brother and sister, when the 60-foot ketch, Blue Bell, caught fire and went down after taking a severe battering from a tropic squall.

Captain Survived

Only one other person is known to have survived—the captain of the vessel, 45-year-old Julian Harvey.

He was picked up by a tanker last Monday and had in the life boat with him a body of a child previously believed to be that of Terry Jo Duperrault. It apparently was the body of Terry Jo's sister, Rene, Rene.

Authorities had all but given up an extensive search started three days ago for survivors when the Captain Theo messaged it had found the child about 120 miles northeast of Miami.

A Coast Guard helicopter met the ship and brought the child to Miami Hospital.

She awakened briefly during the several times she was being moved. But it wasn't until she reached the hospital that authorities were able to identify her.

Mumbies Her Name

Doctors said she roused briefly and mumbled her name almost incoherently.

Dr. Franklin Verdon, who attended the girl, said he first thought she said "Jerry Duperrault," but added that it might have been "Terry."

Relatives in Green Bay said the description of the girl that was found more nearly fitted Terry Jo than her sister, Rene.

Dr. Verdon termed the girl's condition as serious but said: "I think she will make it. I think she will live."

Train Hits Road Grader, Derails; At Least 43 Hurt

BEECH, Iowa (UPI)—The Rock Island Line's "Twin Star Rocket," speeding through Iowa farmlands at 60 miles an hour, slammed into a road grader at a crossing Thursday and careened off the tracks.

At least 43 persons were injured. There were no immediate reports of fatalities.

The diesel-powered passenger train, carrying 171 passengers and a crew of about 13, hurtled off the tracks as it neared Des Moines on its run from Houston, Tex., to Minneapolis, Minn.

Forty-three persons were hospitalized in Des Moines hospitals—30 at Mercy Hospital, 9 at Iowa Lutheran and 4 at Iowa Methodist.

The expressions of grief and tribute spread across the nation when the news of Rayburn's death came, washing away all political differences for the time being in a common loss.

"The country stops in sorrow," was the way Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., phrased it.

President Kennedy said Rayburn, who died in Bonham, Tex.,

New Russian Pressure Put On Finland

Soviets Say Bonn Aggression Threat Mounting Sharply

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union unexpectedly renewed strong pressure on Finland Thursday for consultations on joint defense.

First Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily Kuznetsov called in Finnish Ambassador Euro Vuori and told him "alarming news" makes the threat of West German aggression seem even worse than on Oct. 30, when Moscow first asked for the consultations.

Kuznetsov's oral presentation suddenly dashed the speculation of some diplomats here that a Helsinki communiqué issued in Finland last week represented a softening of the Soviet demands and that this particular situation would remain quiet for at least three months.

The new development revived fears that the Soviet Union may now press for bases in Finland, endangering that country's precarious neutrality.

It also recalled to diplomats the similar Soviet demands made on Finland which resulted in Finnish resistance and the "winter war" of 1939-40.

The Oct. 30 note to Finland asked for military consultations on the grounds that West German rearmament was threatening peace. It charged that Finland's neighbors, Norway and Denmark, were cooperating with West Germany in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and that another neighbor, Sweden, was selling the West Germans arms.

Gizenga Rebel Troops Blamed For Killing 13

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo soldiers believed loyal to leftist Antonio Gizenga murdered 13 Italian airmen assigned to the U.N. forces in Kivu Province, the U.N. Command charged Thursday.

Malayan troops were flown to the trouble spot, the Kivu town of Kindu, ready to mete out punishment to the mutinous Congolese soldiers. A 200-man Malayan garrison already is stationed in Kindu.

Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told the U.N. Security Council the United States welcomes the strong steps taken by acting Secretary - General U Thant.

U Thant denounced the slaying of the Italians by Congolese troops as an outrageous crime, and instructed U.N. officials on the scene to make sure that those responsible "get the punishment they deserve."

Stevenson said the Gizenga forces were apparently operating in Kivu Province "in defiance of the central government."

He proposed that the United Nations make available to the central Congo government "a small but effective air force" to deal with secessionists both in Oriental and Katanga provinces.

As the council met the United Nations released a report from Sture Linner, chief U.N. officer in the Congo, giving shocking details of the death of the Italians.

The report said the Italians were brutally beaten and then shot and cut to pieces by the Congoles soldiers.

U Thant's angry words reflected the shock and revulsion that swept through the U.N. headquarters as details of the killings of the Italians in the U.N. Congo force became known.

His demands for swift retribution came in advance of another Security Council meeting on the critical situation in the violence-ridden Congo.

He called for discipline among Congolese soldiers and expressed disgust at the killings.

were part of the command of Gen.

Restaurateurs Assail Sit-Ins, Affirm Support Of Equal Accommodations Law

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Restaurant Association of Maryland unanimously earlier this fall affirmed Thursday its support of an equal accommodations bill. At the same time, it urged Gov. Tawes to call in representatives of the anti-segregation legislation, but time, it urged Gov. Tawes to call in a special session of the legislature to deal exclusively with the racial demonstrations by student groups.

A statement issued by the association's board of directors after a two-hour meeting Thursday described the demonstrations as examples of "rowdyism and mob rule."

"We invite these demonstrators to abandon their campaign against members of our association, which supports their objectives and to join with our association in urging prompt passage of statewide equal accommodations law," the statement said.

At Annapolis, the Maryland Court of Appeals took under advisement an appeal on behalf of 12 Negro demonstrators who were convicted on trespass charges and fined after their arrests during a sit-in at Hooper's Restaurant last year.

The restaurant board, speaking for some 300 members, voted

Baltimore City College Names Negro "Queen"

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 16-year-old Negro girl has been named Miss City College by a committee of white students at the all-male high school in Baltimore.

The new queen, Dorothy Ewonne White, will be crowned at a so-called "victory hop" on Thanksgiving night. The dance is scheduled after the school's annual Turkey Day football game.

Miss White, a senior at Eastern High School here, was selected from among 30 girls who had submitted applications and photographs to a 10-member committee of City College students.

The committee included the editors of the newspaper and yearbook and the officers of the classes and the student government.

Thirteen of the girls were eliminated on the basis of the photographs and applications and the other 17 were interviewed and voted upon by the committee.

Jerome Schnyderman, senior class president and committee chairman, said a majority selected Miss White on the first ballot. He said she was chosen on the basis of her personality, appearance, poise and speaking ability.

Miss White is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lee White. She was born in Newport News, Va., but has lived in Baltimore most of her life.

Cancer Ends

McCormack is the most likely successor to Rayburn as House speaker.

The White House was the first to be notified that the speaker had died. McCormack was next. President Kennedy was to break into a four-day Western trip which he began Thursday morning in order to attend the funeral.

Rayburn's body will lie in state from 9 a.m. Friday until 9 a.m. Saturday in the foyer of the Sam Rayburn Library.

The lovely little white marble structure rests on a knoll in a four-acre park toward the western edge of Bonham.

Close by is the neatly kept cemetery, with its winding roads and neat rows of headstones and monuments. Rayburn will be buried in the family plot alongside the grave of his favorite sister, Lucinda.

His mother and father and other brothers and sisters—eight of the family all told—rest there now.

Good Deed Pays Off With Interest

DELANO, Calif. (AP)—A 12-year-old Boy Scout bent on doing his daily good deed in turning in a lost wallet has been rewarded for also bringing about a reunion between a St. Albans, W. Va. family and a son they had not seen or heard from in a year.

Kenny Jones, Delano, found a wallet containing $220 while attending a Delano-Hanford High School football game in Hanford Friday night. He turned it over to the Delano Police Department.

The only identification was the name James Austin Goodwin Jr.

Failure To Reach White House No Great Tragedy To Rayburn

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—Sam Rayburn, who never got to the White House himself, saw service under eight presidents of the United States and had a kind word for most of them.

The 79-year-old Texas congressman was considered a possible Democratic nominee for either vice president or president a number of times.

"I might have been president if Franklin Roosevelt hadn't wanted to stay in the White House forever," he once quipped.

"The tragedy is that this great and good wise man was not elected president of the United States," Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said at a Rayburn testimonial dinner several years ago.

But for Rayburn, whose long and distinguished career ended with his death from cancer Thursday, the failure to reach the White House apparently was no great disappointment.

"I was born in the wrong section of the country and at the wrong time ever to become president—but I've achieved everything I wanted," he once said.

The Story of The Men Who Sell Snowballs To The Eskimos

This is just a figure of speech, of course, but the proverbial snowball vendor had nothing on the retail pharmacy, for we too are in business to sell things people don't want. They'd much rather be well and not need a prescription. Yet, the pharmacist must stock thousands of drugs which he can't sell until a third party, the physician, gives the customer written permission to buy in the form of a prescription. Naturally, this unique situation presents somewhat of a problem to the drug store as far as keeping drug stocks fresh and up to date, since it is sometimes difficult to anticipate what products will be in demand. That's why it makes sense to have your prescription filled where the inventory is large and the turnover of drugs rapid. In Cumberland, that, of course, means Walsh & McCagh Pharmacy, one of Maryland's largest prescription pharmacies, where giving you the finest possible prescription service from the world's best drug suppliers is the first order of business.

Negroes' Attorneys Raise Trespass Statute Issue

ANNAPOULIS (AP) — Attorneys Tucker R. Dearing asked the high court to reverse the convictions of 12 Negroes questioned Thursday in the Maryland Court of Appeals whether the state's 1900 trespass statute applies to businesses open to the general public, for trespassing in Hooper's Restaurant June 17, 1960.

Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune and Associate Judges William L. Henderson, William R. Horney, Stedman Prescott and Charles C. Marbury heard the case.

Judge Henderson asked Mrs. Mitchell if the present case differed from two similar cases — Drews vs. State and Griffin vs. State — already decided by the Maryland Court and appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Mrs. Mitchell admitted the issues were similar but said, "We must maintain the rights of our appellants to be free from criminal convictions in the courts below."

Hooper's Restaurant was also the major target of an anti-segregation demonstration last week. Nine persons were charged with trespassing while seeking service in the establishment and another seven were charged with disorderly conduct in picket lines outside.

In the case argued Thursday, police arrested the 12 Negroes after the manager and owner had requested them to leave. They had taken seats at tables in the establishment after being denied service.

Lawrence F. Rodowsky, carrying the state's case to the high court, said "all of the elements of the statute have been 'met' in this case."

The argument by Mrs. Mitchell and Dearing revolves around one major point: can the State of Maryland use its executive and judicial powers to enforce the policies of racial discrimination of business companies that are open to the general public?

In the two previous cases, the state held that the arrest of Negroes and whites for segregation demonstrations at Gwynn Oak and Glen Echo amusement parks did not constitute state enforcement of a policy of racial discrimination.

Attorneys for the 12 Negroes, who drew suspended fines of $10 each in their Baltimore Criminal trials before Judge Joseph R. Byrnes, also sought overthrow of the convictions on two other grounds.

They contended:

1. The application of the statute in this case was contrary to their rights of free speech and assembly.

2. The evidence was insufficient to sustain the convictions because the appellants were not acting unlawfully.

PSC Ruling Upheld
In Fuel Oil Hauling

FREDERICK (AP) — Chief Circuit Court Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer Thursday upheld a 2-year-old Public Service Commission decision which granted Stewart Petroleum Co. the right to haul combustible fluids in Maryland.

A group of Maryland truckers contended there were more than enough fuel oil trucks owned by Marylanders to meet the fuel oil demands of Free State consumers and asked the court to overturn the commission's ruling.

The Public Service Commission maintained that population increase had necessitated an additional source of supply — as a matter of public convenience.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's Easier To Switch Names—Than Trade Faces!

Would you really want to trade places—or faces—with another woman? If you were able to ride your wishes to where grass looks greener, you might change your mind.

If you were to BE what you think you SEE in another woman's contours and countenance, you'd forget how to envy her. You'd be too absorbed in coping with her problems at close range, trials you never knew you'd relish being a natural blonde. The gentlemen's choice! Doll-like, fragile, so pretty in pastels, so ravishing in black AND white.

Have you ever stopped envying long enough to listen to a real redhead's real plaints? About freckles? About that fair, sensitive skin that would never tan, even if she were reckless enough to fry it and try it? Do you realize how many redheads have been trapped into a lifelong grudge against green?

Have you ever counted how many more have rebelled against a reputation with deeper risks than foundation in fact?

Do you know how frustrated a blonde feels at the first signs of fading complexion and darkening hair? They are plagued by such premature aging...unless they resort to the same routines that produce artificial blondes. And this leaves them little better off for being born blonde. What's more, the delicacy of their hair texture and skin type makes them even likelier candidates for damaged tresses and a harsh, brassy appearance.

Discouraged over your dry skin? You might prefer waging war on wrinkles to battling the blemishes that bedevil oily complexions. You shudder at the shape you're in? Every skinny miss ought to share a fitting room, just once, with a plump girl. She'd understand how much easier it is to fake curves with clothes than to fit an overflow of flesh into flattering lines.

While the plumps, downcast over perpetual dieting, ought to spare some sympathy from their self-pity for the "bags of bones" who balk at beachwear and dare not bare arms and shoulders in decollete dresses.

If you've ever claimed it would be better to be too tall than too short, you've never imagined the dizzying heights of self-consciousness touched by girls who tower over manpower. If you've never done naught but complain about your big feet, you've never had to conduct a citywide search for an impossible small size in shoes...nor wept at the war debt incurred in a "special order" from a slim selection.

Stop looking at your "lucky" neighbor. Take another look at yourself. After a little reflection, aren't you just a little more satisfied to BE what you SEE in your own mirror? It's plain to see you have your limitations. Doesn't everyone?

However, you know your own...and they're the only ones you have to worry about and work on—work that may well seem child's play next to your "lucky" neighbor's labors!

Beall, Butler Criticize JFK Spending Programs

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Maryland's Republican senators criticized the spending programs of the Kennedy Administration Thursday night in speeches prepared for delivery before the GOP organizations of Carroll County.

Sen. John Marshall Butler challenged Kennedy's "New Frontier" to prove "it is more interested in government than in government."

Sen. J. Glenn Beall called for "a return to saneness in government" saying the Democratic-controlled 87th Congress had "the dubious distinction of being the 'spendiest' Congress in history."

The two senators spoke in a county which gave former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a voting edge of almost 3-1 in 1956, and went 2-1 for the Republicans in 1960.

"From the very moment they took office," Butler said, "The New Frontiersmen made it perfectly clear that they did not intend to be bothered by such trifles as a balanced budget."

In his speech, Beall said the probable deficit for the current fiscal year has been estimated at more than $6.5 billion.

"Unless the administration puts the brakes on requests for federal aid programs," Beall said, "the United States will be in deep trouble financially."

Beall said enlightened Democrats want to support Republicans in blocking what he called "wasteful spendthrift antics of the liberals." He described liberals as "those who are liberal with other people's money."

Beall congratulated the Carroll County Republicans for starting their political activity one year in advance of the 1962 general election.

"I have always felt that our party waited too long to get started on its campaigning," he said.

Tawes And Officials To Tour Facilities At State Airports

A delegation of state officials, headed by Gov. J. Millard Tawes, will stop at Cumberland Municipal Airport Monday at 10 a. m., the first of a series of stops and "flyovers" in a statewide tour of Maryland airport facilities.

Rudolph A. Drennan, director of the State Aviation Commission, said the tour is in connection with the work of the Maryland Air Transportation Survey Commission.

PTA Will Meet

ELLERSLIE — A Parents-Teachers meeting will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the school. Teachers will be in their rooms at 7 p. m. The speaker will be Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education in Allegany

Procurement; Andrew Heubeck Jr., secretary to the Board of Public Works; Russell McCain, executive assistant to the governor; Charles B. Allen, chairman of the State Aviation Commission; Col. A. Paul Fonda, member of the commission; H. Robert Venables, member of the Commission, and Drennan.

The tour will familiarize state officials with existing airports, Drennan said, and will particularly stress Cumberland, Hagerstown and Frederick facilities so when application is made before the Civil Aeronautics Board for expansion of the state system, officials will know "what we are talking about and that you people at Cumberland have a fine airport."

In addition to Gov. Tawes, others in the party will include Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, James O'Donnell, director of the Maryland Planning Commission; James G. Rennie, director of the Department of the Budget and Procurement; Andrew Heubeck Jr., secretary to the Board of Public Works; Russell McCain, executive assistant to the governor; Charles B. Allen, chairman of the State Aviation Commission; Col. A. Paul Fonda, member of the commission; H. Robert Venables, member of the Commission, and Drennan.

The party will be joined at Cumberland by Maryland Attorney General Thomas B. Finan who will make the remainder of the tour.

Allen is chairman and O'Donnell a member of the Transportation Commission. T. Donald Shires, this city, is also a member.

The party will leave Baltimore's Friendship Airport at 9 a. m. in an executive DC-3 owned by George H. Langenfelder, a member of the State Aviation Commission. On the way to Cumberland, the group will "flyover" a number of facilities including the new airport at Oakland and land here at 10 a. m. for a half-hour stay.

From here, the schedule calls for stops at Hagerstown, Frederick, Easton, Salisbury and flyovers at Ocean City, Assateague Island, Andrews Air Force Base, Washington National Airport and the return to Friendship about 5:30 p. m. Easton is the lunch stop.

Drennan said a newspaper reporter, Miss Helen Bentley of the Baltimore Sunpapers, and photographer, would accompany the group.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said the arrival time of the group could pose a problem for city officials who might wish to be at the airport since it coincides with the regular meeting of the Mayor and Council.

The matter will be discussed at an executive meeting of council

SRC Sets Up Plans For Snow Fight

The battle against drifting snow and ice-covered highways in Allegany and Garrett counties is being planned by the district office of the State Roads Commission.

John D. Bushby, district SRC engineer, said five pieces of heavy equipment which can be used to clear highways were recently received.

The equipment includes three new trucks of 10-ton capacity which have four-wheel drive. These trucks will be equipped with V-plows and side wings during the snow removal period. One of them will be used in Allegany County and the other two in Garrett County.

Also available for use in the snow removal program are two new 30,000 pound road graders which will be equipped with V-plows.

These additions to the large fleet of trucks which are equipped with snow plows and the use of chemicals and abrasives on roads will put the district SRC in good position to combat heavy snows, Bushby said.

Bushby said that in an effort to save money in the winter snow removal program a large amount of calcium chloride has been purchased and stockpiled. This chemical is being piled at strategic points and covered with sawdust as a protective coating until such time as it is needed, Bushby stated.

The handling of the calcium chloride in bulk is expected to save the SRC several thousand dollars in the district. The experiment is being conducted locally and if successful will probably be used in other parts of the state, Bushby said.

Any saving of money is important as the SRC spent $2,300,000 last year in the state to combat the heavy snows.

Bushby also said that snow fences have been erected throughout Allegany and Garrett counties. Snow emergency route signs have also been placed on U. S. Route 40, U. S. Route 220, State Route 51 and State Route 135.

Expansion Of Water Filtration Facilities At Paper Mill In Luke To Begin Monday

Expansion of the water filtration facilities at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper is scheduled to begin Monday, John A. Luke, Fine Papers Division general manager, said yesterday.

In announcing the construction, Luke said the new water filtration facilities will not mean an increase in the total amount of water required by the mill but will provide a greater percentage of filtered water, part of which will be used by the second of two new giant paper machines.

He said expansion of the filter plant is required as a result of the mill's $55 million growth program. Contractor for the job will be Rust Engineering Company of Pittsburgh.

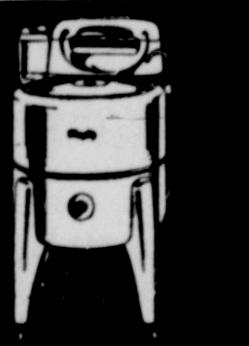

The expanded filtration plant will have a capacity totaling 30

Physicians, Pharmacists Told Research Needed

Dr. John C. Krantz, professor of pharmacology at the University of Maryland, Wednesday told members of the Allegany-Garrett Pharmaceutical Association and Allegany-Garrett Medical Society that "it is extremely important that we get the story of medicine and pharmacy to the average layman."

He said this is best done by which led to early discoveries in the medical field and in the general field of science. Christopher Wren and Charles Boyle gave the first hypodermic injections in a hollow quill. It was this inquisitive bent which led to Antoine Lavoisier's discovery of the principle of combustion," the speaker said.

The discovery of penicillin in 1928 by Alexander Fleming was cited as another example. He was growing in his laboratory a culture of bacteria (staphylococcus) and somehow contaminated the culture and a mold formed. Fleming later found that many of the bacteria were destroyed by this mold, which he later experimented with and found the antibiotic, penicillin, Dr. Krantz stated.

"We need people in the two professions and in science generally who will explore the unknown fields and seek answers to the many unanswered questions," Dr. Krantz said.

The joint dinner meeting at which Dr. Krantz spoke was held at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Meteorological Warfare Next?

The United States is making available information on practically every facet of its weather satellite program to the 28 nations, including the Soviet Union, now gathered in Washington for an international meteorological satellite workshop. No doubt this willingness to share the plethora of information from one and a half years of intensive experimentation will prove upsetting to those who see military significance in weather research.

As a practical matter, weathermen say, the United States has little to fear from disclosure of the information. The Soviet Union and this country long have freely exchanged weather data available from surface observation, and the exchange includes observations from Red China. This country's ability to predict the fallout pattern of the current Soviet nuclear tests in the Arctic depends in part on daily weather reports and observations made available by Russia.

Of course, Soviet meteorologists will have the benefit of information that cost this nation millions of dollars and thousands of man-hours. Three "Tiros" weather satellites, equipped with television cameras capable of transmitting cloud-cover pictures back to earth, have been launched by the United States since April 1960. Results have exceeded all expectations and some data now are being used in actual forecasting.

Four more Tros satellites are scheduled for launching before mid-1962 when the more sophisticated "Nimbus" weather satellite will be ready. So far as we know, the Soviet Union has never launched a weather satellite of its own. When and if it does, it will be interesting to see if the information is treated as matter for worldwide distribution or as an instrument of "meteorological warfare."

These Days

The Republicans

No political party can afford to sacrifice its birth-right of principle and hope to survive. The Republican Party has been out of office so long that it has lost its sense of direction. The Eisenhower Administration did not unify the Republican Party. In fact, during the first Eisenhower Administration, the Right Wing followers of Robert A. Taft and the opportunistic followers of Harold Stassen and the anti-Communist followers of Senator Joe McCarthy split the party into many sub-divisions. Unity has never been restored.

The party is currently divided into groups which may be indicated as follows:

1. The Conservative followers of Barry Goldwater who include many Southern Democrats among their number;

2. The Liberal followers of Nelson Rockefeller who fear to have their candidate run in 1964;

3. The supporters of Richard Nixon who feel that he might have been and ought to have been elected and that he was defeated by accident and by Kennedy money;

4. Those who are weary of all these names and who want to see a new name and a new personality and some fresh ideas.

This puts the party in a bad position. No other names seem presently to be available. Nixon seems to be out of the running and Rockefeller has suffered severely from the re-election of Wagner as Mayor of New York. It is logical that Wagner should run for Governor of New York State in 1962. Should Wagner be elected Governor of New York State, Nelson Rockefeller would be out of the running as a candidate for President. As it stands today, it looks as though the only likely survivor as a candidate in 1964 is Barry Goldwater. It is very doubtful that Goldwater would have a chance against Kennedy.

Whom then will the Republicans nominate? At this moment, the Republicans have no candidate who is acceptable to enough voters to matter. Barry Goldwater has an idealistic following, young, enthusiastic, but it is doubtful whether this will be sufficient to elect a President.

The problem that faces the Republican Party is, first of all, to orientate itself ideologically. It has to mean something more than a vehicle to elect the opposition party; it must be more than an opposition party. Under President Eisenhower, the Republican Party lost intellectual cohesion, having fallen into the hands of businessmen who, while their intentions were perhaps right, failed to be able to state what they really meant.

President Eisenhower, in the few speeches he has made since he left the White House, has been more articulate than when he was there. At any rate, he offers a much more certain idea of what he means. But President Eisenhower cannot run again. The Republicans require a new life and a new leadership or the Goldwater effort will come a totally new party, perhaps under Southern or Western leadership.

This much is evident: the Eastern states are Democratic. The shifts in population have definitely established the Democratic control even in centers which have traditionally been Republican. The few gains in New York must not be taken as signs of strength; they are rather indicative of the new ideas and a movement away from Eisenhower Liberalism. Many other Republicans are standing in the way of their party's progress because they adhere to that practicality which resulted in the defeat of Landon, Willkie and Dewey, a practicality which is often referred to as "me-tooism."

All this past needs to be wiped away. In its place, if this party is to survive, must come an idealism which can attract youth. If John Kennedy grows from a practical politician into a moral leader of men and women in a sad world, youth, who drink in the fountain of faith rather than in the salted waters of practicality, will turn to him as it has been turning to Goldwater.

This country requires two parties. It is impossible for it to function politically with only one party because the machinery of government, particularly Congress, is set up on a two-party basis. If the Republican Party does not come out of its present intellectual doldrums, the Democratic Party will absorb the varieties of partisan thought and will split into groups. As it is today, only Barry Goldwater stands for a decisive principle, domestic and foreign. Nixon represents opportunism and Rockefeller an unformed position. The time has truly come for a change.

Are Businessmen Only Violators Of Federal Laws?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Antitrust violators should, of course, be penalized, but people are beginning to wonder whether or when Attorney General Robert Kennedy intends to enforce certain other federal statutes besides the antitrust laws. It is, for example, a violation of federal law for anyone, whether or not in public office, to promise an appointment to any federal job as a reward "for any political activity."

Yet on Monday of this week, the United Press International carried a news dispatch from New York City which reads as follows:

"Mayor Robert F. Wagner said today that President Kennedy has given him the job of dispensing federal patronage in New York State instead of Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast. . . .

"Wagner told a City Hall news conference he had been authorized to take over the patronage duties at a meeting last Friday with Richard Maguire, White House Appointment Secretary."

Yet the U. S. Criminal Code, Section 600, says:

"Whoever, directly or indirectly, promises any employment, position, work, compensation, or other benefit, provided for or made possible in whole or in part by an act of Congress, to any person as consideration, favor, or reward for any political activity or for the support of or opposition to any candidate or any political party in any election, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both."

Will it be claimed that, during a state or city election campaign, rewards of federal jobs can be lawfully offered as a consideration, and that Congress did not intend to include this type of "political activity" in the law forbidding such practices? The section of the law quoted above, however, makes no such distinction.

It can hardly be argued persuasively that New York City's recent election campaign has no relationship to the 1962 Congress-sional elections or to the 1964 presidential election, since the party organization for federal, state and city elections in New York City is virtually identical. President Kennedy himself, with an eye to 1968 and 1964 federal elections, went to New York to help Mayor Wagner get elected. It wouldn't take the average lawyer in the antitrust division of the Department of Justice long to establish a "collusion" between the managers of federal and city elections in New York City.

It will be contended that "patronage" has also been dispensed as a political "reward" by Republican administrations in Washington in the past without regard to federal laws forbidding it. But the answer is that "two wrongs do not make a right." Also, if the businessmen of the nation now are to be described as "racketeers" because they transgressed the highly complicated antitrust laws, maybe it's time to examine what the politicians are doing to violate federal laws governing appointments to public office. Attorney General Kennedy in his speech before the Economic Club of New York City this week said:

"From the records of investigations I have examined since I have been with the Department of Justice, the sad truth is that although price-fixing conspiracies are the exception rather than the rule, in almost every major community in the country, a number of businessmen have conspired or are conspiring in secret not only to fix prices but to make collusive deals with union officials, defraud their customers and even in some instances cheat their own government. . . .

"We are talking about clear-cut questions of right and wrong. I view the businessman who engages in such conspiracies in the same light as I regard the racketeer who siphons off money from the public in crooked gambling or the union official who betrays his union members."

Were there no "conspiracies" in secret in the last election campaigns to reward some of those persons who "delivered" a certain vote in a given area or district, or those who contributed large sums and have been or presently will be rewarded with posts as ambassadors or ministers to foreign countries?

Are all the 112 new federal judges, moreover, being chosen by the Department of Justice in a process that is wholly free from political taint or reward for services rendered to the Democratic Party? And if the Department of Justice itself dispenses "patronage" to the party members as a "reward," who will check up on the enforcement of any federal laws that may have been violated? Is it possible that only businessmen violate federal laws and that the politicians are 100 per cent pure?

There is a note of reassurance in that party of Attorney General Kennedy's speech in which he reiterated:

"I hold a constitutional office of the United States government and I shall perform the duty I have sworn to undertake—to enforce the law, in every field of law without regional bias or political slant."

By Henry Cathcart

STALIN 'OUSTER' — There is grim justice in the removal of the mummified remains of Josef Stalin from its place of honor beside the body of Lenin in the mausoleum in Moscow's Red Square.

That most ruthless dictator of modern times applied the idea of eradicating all evidence of his personal and political enemies from Soviet history. It seems fitting, somehow, that he should fall victim of a device he so assiduously employed.

To much of the world, the action taken against Stalin by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is a mystery — something that is not understandable to ordinary people. This is particularly so when the seemingly insensitive act appears to have split the camp of international Communism, straining Soviet relations with its giant partner to the East, Red China.

To understand the Russian man-on-the-street reaction to the posthumous "demotion" of Stalin, however, it is necessary to recall that Communism is not only a form of government, it is a kind of religion as well.

Khrushchev and the Communist Party Congress have struck down a Communist god; a man whom many Russians had to look upon as a kind of god, but who didn't believe he was one. In so doing, Stalin's teachings, actions and principles have been disowned by the present Soviet regime.

One more factor must be reckoned with. Each man strives for immortality. One cannot help but wonder whether the aging Khrushchev was taking the first step toward assuring his own position in the minds of future generations of Russians.

Way Found To Remove Plutonium From Tap Water and other contaminants. Many methods are known but are too costly or impractical to be of value on a large scale. Furthermore, the nature of the contaminants is ever changing and now include detergents, pesticides, and refuse from commercial and natural sources. Some are completely resistant to destruction or persist indefinitely in surface or ground water.

If a successful waste treatment were developed, the water could be used over and over again to conserve the supply, especially in the more arid areas. Various methods are being tried to recover fresh water from salt water.

The English pay more for cigarettes than we do. The cost may not act as a deterrent to smoking but it often leads to relighting of half-smoked butts (which the British call damps). A two year survey in three Manchester hospitals convinced some British investigators that those who habitually relight half-consumed cigarettes may double their chances of developing lung cancer. Throw away that butt.

Some evidence of immunity is noted eight years after the last booster shot. But it may not be enough to prevent the disease from developing in case of accident.

REPLY

None. Baldness resembling that in men is not common in women but many women lose enough hair to warrant a wig.

No. But lock up or throw the scissors away before she injures her eyes cutting the lashes.

Molotov And Khrushchev Differed Over Inevitability Of War With West

By Drew Pearson

ahead with his program without worrying about his Republican opposition, and that if he brought peace to the United States he would be re-elected overwhelmingly.

HOW K. WON

Frank as he was, Khrushchev did not tell me the inside story of how he had won the test vote with Molotov in 1957. He did it by getting the cooperation of the Red Army which put airplanes at his disposal to bring members of the Central Committee back to Moscow for the vote; also thanks to the indefatigable efforts of his friend, Madame Ekaterina Furtseva, who flew in Red Army planes all over the Soviet, collecting signatures of 75 provincial governors and regional Communist leaders on a petition supporting Khrushchev.

Molotov and the diehard Stalinists had agreed to a vote in the Central Committee only because they were confident they could win. But thanks to Madame Furtseva and the Red Army planes, Khrushchev won. He then demoted Molotov and the Stalinist clique. There was, however, no bloodshed as there had been when Stalin purged his political enemies.

The "Political philosophy" which Molotov favored and Khrushchev disagreed with, it now develops, was the inevitability of war between the capitalist and Communist worlds.

Khrushchev gave me a hint of this when he told me how they disagreed over keeping Russian troops in Austria and Finland.

"I wanted to take them out," Khrushchev said. "Molotov wanted to keep them there. I argued that Austria should be on its own, that it was foolish to keep troops there. In the end we withdrew the troops, and today Austria is one of our good friends."

"Again, we had a military base in Finland," continued Khrushchev. "Again I told Molotov it's foolish to keep that base. It only causes friction. We don't have significant that it was Molotov who read the Molotov letter regarded as the most damning evidence against him. In the letter, written just a few days before the Congress opened in October, Molotov criticized Khrushchev for revising the Marxian Doctrine on the inevitability of war and took a crack at Mr. K's 20-year program for a continued better standard of living.

This was what he and Mr. K had rowed about back in 1957 and obviously Molotov had not changed a bit.

The punch line in the letter read as follows: "Without serious conflict, without war, advance toward Communism is impossible."

Thus Molotov laid it right on the line just one month ago — the same line as the Red Chinese — that there must be war between the capitalist and Communist worlds.

This is why he was fired out of his job in Vienna and brought back to Moscow to face the music.

Editor's note—More by Drew Pearson on the deep rift inside the Communist world will follow in another column.

Spain, with its arid mountains and wayside crosses, has always been secretive. The people use the word truth as though it were something rare, to be whispered only to a dear friend. In August, I drove up and out of Madrid into the mocha-colored mountains of Guadarrama, and I asked questions about the civil war of 25 years ago, but the men were vague and the old ladies merely blessed themselves and said nothing.

Four nuns were raped at Pozuelo de Alarcon. Although 7,937 priests and nuns were killed, the figure is less than half of the religious in Republican Spain. Many priests decided to collaborate with the Communists and one, who was permitted to escape to France, said: "The Reds have destroyed our churches, but we first destroyed the church."

In one city, 800 officials and their families were thrown down a mine shaft while a crowd yelled: "Arriba, Espana!" The so-called Dawn Patrol in Madrid was led by an ex-printer named Garcia Atadell. His specialty was elaborate cruelty. Two years later, he was captured by the Nationalists.

Master Meter Placed On Line To Franklin

Westernport Checks Volume Of Water

WESTERNPORT — The residents of Franklin and Brophytown are using about 18,000 gallons of water daily, according to Robert Kaelbaugh, water commissioner.

A master meter has been placed at the Westernport corporation line to get a measurement of the water consumed by these communities.

The town council has set a deadline of December 15, for the two communities to organize a water company and the company pay the bill according to the number of gallons registered on the meter. If this is not done by this time residents have been warned the supply will be discontinued.

Kaelbaugh stated at the regular council meeting Wednesday, according to the amount being used it does not appear there is much leakage.

A communication from the Potomac Fire Company stated that members of the company had inspected the 84 fire plugs in the town and 24 need gaskets and nine of that number need repairs and gaskets.

The charter ordinance book edited by Horace P. Whitworth Jr., town attorney has been received from the printer. Copies have been distributed to the Police Department, city clerk, town attorney, mayor and commissioners V. Browne Kooken, trial magistrate also a cop each to the three schools of the town. Other persons desiring a copy may obtain one at the city clerk's office for a fee of $2.00.

Moorefield Getting New Street Lights

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Workmen with the Potomac Light and Power Company are working this week installing new lights throughout the town of Moorefield. The new street lights will have 7200 candle power replacing the old lights of 4200 candle power.

New lines are being strung along the streets and new transformers installed for the lighting system. A feature of the new installations is that each light has its own electric eye to turn on the lights when darkness reaches a certain degree and to turn off when it gets light in the morning.

Each installation for the stronger street light has a unit on a rail which extends over the street, enabling the workmen to draw the light unit back to the pole or replace it or to replace bulbs.

Workmen have also been busy for the past weeks trimming trees along the power company lines and right-away, using a mechanical shredder to grind up the limbs of the trees.

Herb Ruby Apologizes
To Coach Ed Schwarz

Lough Is 97-88-10

By C. V. BURNS

HERB RUBY, Westminster High School football coach, who took his team off the field in the fourth quarter of its game with Allegany High School here on the night of Friday, November 3, with the Campers' leading, 20-13, has sent a letter to Coach Ed Schwarz apologizing for the uncomplimentary remarks made about the Allegany mentor.

Ruby ordered his team off the field, claiming he was dissatisfied with the officiating. Then he put the blast on Coach Schwarz, telling our reporter that what he said could be quoted in the newspaper. Only part of what Ruby said was published.

When Schfarz heard about Ruby's remarks he was shocked and remarked:

"I didn't believe Herb was that kind of a fellow."

JIM STEPHENS, 195-pound fullback, who sparked Somerset High School's Golden Eagles to a 9-0 record this season, is sought by many colleges because of his high scholastic rating.

Stephens is 6-foot-3 inches tall. This was Carl Waughman's 14th year as coach at the Pennsylvania school. Last year his Eagles wound up with a 2-6-1 record.

ONE of the best known sandlot baseball southpaw pitchers in Western Pennsylvania died the other day when Charles "Pap" Swaney, 72, a native of Braddock, San Diego.

Chick Evans, Chicago, shot a hole in one Thursday on the 165-yard second hole at Eldorado.

Henry T. Adios
Is 5-2 Favorite

WESTBURY, N.Y. (UPI) — Henry T. Adios, with Stanley Dancer in the sulky, is a 5-2 favorite to lead home eight rival 3-year-old pacers Friday night in the $145,378 Messenger Stakes — the richest purse in harness racing history.

The small but swift son of Adios drew post No. 3 for the single dash of one mile at Roosevelt Raceway.

The Messenger is the final leg of the triple crown of pacing. Cold Front won the first leg — the Cane — at Yonkers Raceway and Henry T. Adios won the second leg — the Little Brown Jug — at Delaware, Ohio.

Machen To Replace Injured Johnson

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A leg ailment forced champion Harold Johnson to withdraw Thursday from a scheduled NBA light heavyweight title bout with unbeaten Doug Jones of New York. The fight was set for Dec. 2 at the Miami Beach Convention Hall.

Johnson said his right leg had not fully healed after surgery.

Eddie Machen, heavyweight contender from Redding, Calif., was substituted for Johnson as Jones' opponent on the Dec. 2 card.

AFL Contest Set
Tonight At Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Patriots launch their drive for the remaining playoff berth in the sophomore American Football League Friday night in the opener of a crucial four-game round.

The Pats have their chance against the Oakland Raiders in a Boston night game 36 hours before the other two Eastern Division title bidders, New York and Houston, cooperate by taking each other out of the race. It is the Patriots' last home game.

Boston is a 12 point choice over the Raiders while the red-hot defending champion Houston Oilers, are 14 point picks over the Titans in their game at Houston Sunday afternoon. The battle will be televised in the East and Midwest.

In other Sunday afternoon games, the unbeaten San Diego Chargers host the Dallas Texans. The Chargers are 13-point favorites in the game to be shown in the Far West except Los Angeles. The Buffalo Bills are 201 in 95 games. His over four point favorites over the all major league batting average.

Broncos at Denver. That game is 241. Last season the Indians were hunting for a relief catcher to spell John Romano. To replace Temple at second, they have available Mike De La Hoz and Vic Power, who could be moved there from first.

Indians Trade Temple To Baltimore Orioles

Birds Swap Chiti,
Two Other Players
For Second Sacker

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians traded second baseman John Temple to the Baltimore Orioles Thursday for catcher Harry Chiti and two other players to be named by Dec. 15.

Temple, 32, came to Cleveland two years ago from Cincinnati where he had earned National League All-Star team recognition for four years, 1956 through 1959. He hit .276 last season, against his 10-year major league average of .288, but played on the American League All-Star team.

Started With Cubs

Chiti, 29, played for Denver of the American Association and Rochester of the International League last year. He had seven home runs and batted .294 with Denver and hit .321 and 10 homers with Rochester. He started his major league career at the end of the 1950 season with the Chicago Cubs, and was drafted into the American League by Kansas City in 1957. In 1960, with Detroit, Chiti was 201 in 95 games. His over four point favorites over the all major league batting average.

Broncos at Denver. That game is 241. Last season the Indians were hunting for a relief catcher to spell John Romano. To replace Temple at second, they have available Mike De La Hoz and Vic Power, who could be moved there from first.

High Paid Players

Trade of Temple to Washington more than a month ago has removed from the current Indians roster the club's two highest paid players of 1961. Each reportedly earned $30,000 to $35,000 last season.

An Oriole spokesman said the two players to be sent Cleveland later have not been selected. But, he added, "they will not be front-line pitchers, nor players who were regulars last season."

The acquisition of Temple, who was named the American League All-Star second baseman in 1961, is expected to solve one of Baltimore's problems for the coming season.

Hansen In Service

Ron Hansen, Baltimore's regular shortstop last season and an All-Star selection in 1960 as a rookie, has been called back into the Army for an expected year of service.

The Orioles could be in deeper infeld trouble, since third base man Brooks Robinson may be sub ject to an Army call. Jerry Adair, divided second base duties with

Marv Breeding last year, is ex pected to be the shortstop in 1962.

Connecticut Boys Held In Garrett Jail

Vehicle Stolen, Dairy Bar Entered

Four Hartford, Conn., boys, age 14-18, were being held in Garrett County jail last night in connection with the theft of a station wagon in Hartford and the breaking and entering and theft of merchandise from a dairy bar near Salisbury, Pa., early yesterday morning, authorities said.

Trooper Glen D. Folk of the State Police, arrested the four boys in the station wagon at Little Crossing on U. S. Route 40 east of Grantsville.

After questioning, the four boys admitted taking the vehicle and breaking into the dairy bar, he said.

Raymond Moss, rural mail carrier who lives near the Yoder Dairy Bar at Pine Grove, notified police that about daylight yesterday he glanced out a window at his home and noticed a vehicle pulled into the dairy bar.

One or two of the occupants, he said, got out of the vehicle and made two or three trips to and from the dairy bar. Moss said he got into his car, and when he drove toward the bar, the occupants of the other vehicle took off toward Salisbury.

Moss got the tag number and color of the vehicle and police were called from a service station in the area at 6:30 a.m.

Trooper Folk spotted the vehicle and stopped it to question the occupants, who at first denied entering the dairy bar.

Although the tags on the car did not compare with the tags information furnished by Moss, the trooper noticed a plate under the seat of the station wagon which matched the one seen by Moss.

The four boys apparently changed the tags after leaving the dairy bar, Trooper Folk said. Some canned goods and cakes were taken from the dairy bar.

C&P To Pay Tax Today

A check for $36,051.86 will be presented this morning to George E. Davis, Cumberland tax collector, by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company for payment of its city taxes for the fiscal year of 1961.

Making the presentation will be William F. Campbell, commercial manager of the local office.

The check is one of the largest the city receives each year. Assessment of the property for which taxes were paid is $2,341,030.

The property includes buildings, poles, cables, wires, conduits and manholes.

This is the first year the local office has paid the tax directly. Previously the phone company sent all its tax money to Annapolis, and it then was distributed to the various cities and towns throughout the state.

Home Is Planned

Allegany Homes Company secured a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a one-story dwelling with attached garage at 628 East First Street. It will be about 41 by 27 feet and of frame construction.

Cab, On Way To Hospital, Has Accident

Four Persons Slightly Hurt

A six-year-old local boy who cut his right wrist in an accident at his home last night and was being taken to the hospital sustained an injury to his mouth when a taxi in which he was riding collided with a station wagon at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre streets.

His mother, also a passenger in the taxi, and two occupants of the station wagon, were injured.

Boyd Johnson of 229 Avirett Avenue was treated at Memorial Hospital and released, according to attaches who said his mother, Mrs. Anna Johnson, 50, was treated and released.

Glenn W. Cecil, 21, of RD 5, city, driver of the station wagon, complained of pain in his left leg, was examined and released. His father, Irvin Cecil, 47, was treated for an injury to his nose.

City Police Officer Robert Shoemaker who was on duty at the intersection said he heard the driver blow his horn at Baltimore and Liberty streets. He waved the cabie on toward the hospital.

Meanwhile the traffic light turned green at Baltimore and Centre streets and Glenn Cecil proceeded across the intersection north on Centre Street.

The cab struck the right side of the station wagon. Officer Shoemaker said the lad and his mother were taken to the hospital in the police patrol wagon.

The cab driver, Wallace B. Keller Jr., of 639 Bedford Street, who apparently was not hurt, was charged with failure to use caution while on an emergency call. Cecil was charged with failure to obey the lawful order of a police officer.

The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m. and attracted the attention of many downtown shoppers.

More Corporation Tax Bills Are Mailed By City

Some 30 corporation tax bills were mailed this week by the City of Cumberland.

Finance Commissioner Lucille Roeder said the statements, along with a number of others mailed during the past few weeks, represent about $92,000 of taxes.

Bills on the personal property of corporations are sent out throughout the year as assessments are forwarded by the state tax office.

The city collected $338,893.28 last year from assessments on the personal property of corporations.

Airport Is Ready For Inspection

The Cumberland Municipal Airport is in excellent condition for Monday's visit of state officials, according to Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

Mayor Keech yesterday inspected airport facilities, accompanied by Roy Maphis, foreman, and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, superintendent for the facility.

During the visit, they inspected repairs made on a number of hangar doors during recent weeks.

Governor Tawes will head the delegation which will stop here during the inspection tour of Maryland's airport facilities story on page 8.

Douglass, Edward F. Enderle, Michael R. Firle, Keith F. Stevens, Michael A. Pagliaro, Joel S. Shannon, Donald Crabtree and David Connally.
